Attendance

Regular and punctual attendance at classes is a requirement for successful completion of your course, for distance and E-Learning student's submission of assessment tasks as per timetable is recommended for successful completion of the course with mandatory practical attendance days recorded. Non-attendance jeopardises the student's ability to complete the course requirements and overall failure of their selected qualification. In the event of extended absence, the student may be withdrawn from the course and will have to provide evidence verifying the reasons of their extended absence. DP Training will send written notification to the student outlining their intentions to withdraw the student from the course and provide a timeframe for a response – if no response received within the timeframe provided the student will be automatically withdrawn.

Skills recognition

Students may already have skills or knowledge that will enable them to gain a qualification without taking part in a whole training program. The skills and knowledge may have been gained through study, self-tuition, work and/or life experience.

Skills recognition is the acknowledgment by a training provider that an employee has gained an appropriate level of skill and knowledge that would have otherwise been developed through undertaking a course.

Training providers generally apply skills recognition in two ways:

- recognition of prior learning
- credit transfer.

Recognition

Recognition of Prior Learning (RPL) is a process that enables people who are seeking a formal qualification from a nationally accredited course or Training Program to gain recognition of competencies they have already acquired through formal or informal training and education, work experience, or general life experience, towards those qualifications. Recognition enables them to avoid unnecessarily duplicating that learning experience.

The process applies to students wishing to receive advanced standing into an accredited course, be exempt from prerequisites because of previous work or educational experience or combine work experience with formal education to achieve a higher accredited qualification.

All recognition paperwork for RPL or credit transfer must be submitted within 1 months of training commencing and prior to the first assessment submission .

Students should contact the Training Manager who will provide an RPL Application Form, with the assessment requirements, and discuss the nature of the evidence required, and how it might be obtained, with the student, and the costs involved in obtaining Recognition. If the applicant is suitable a qualified RPL Assessor will be appointed.

The Assessor or Training Manager will review all the evidence submitted and may ask the applicant to participate/attend an interview to review findings and gather more information/evidence.

The student is advised of the outcome of the process, in writing, within fourteen days of the completed review. If Recognition is granted the credential is issued.

RPL has many benefits:

- students can finish their courses earlier
- study loads are reduced
- the student can take on additional study leading to a second qualification
- by identifying an individual's current competencies, RPL can effectively target training requirements.

Students who want their knowledge and skills recognised under RPL need to provide the training provider with evidence of their prior learning. Training providers take previous experience and study into account whether it was achieved in Australia or overseas (Where evidence can be verified).

Credit transfer

Credit transfer allows students to count relevant, successfully completed study - through study at registered training organisations, accredited private providers, professional organisations or enterprises and universities - towards their current course or qualifications.

Students receive credit for units they have previously completed and are exempt from retaking them, therefore reducing the study load. Contact our office for information about applicable credit transfers.

If you have trained overseas, the National Office of Overseas Skills Recognition will provide advice and assessment for non-trade qualifications and the Department of Employment and Workplace Relations provides trades assessment services.

Course delivery procedures

We strive to ensure that the delivery of each course is of a high standard and well-accepted by students, that advertised course outcomes are achieved, that the delivery of VET courses complies in all respects with the requirements for the delivery and assessment of nationally accredited courses and to build mutually beneficial long-term relationships with competent, experienced, and highly regarded local trainers/assessors, who know our training organisation and the way it operates.

VET courses are to be delivered by trainers who have gained Certificate IV Training & Assessment from the Training Package for Assessment and Workplace Training and can demonstrate vocational competencies at least to the level of those being delivered.

Course assessment procedures

Nationally recognised and accredited VET courses have been developed on a competency-based approach to workplace training. Competency is the ability to meet particular standards of performance required in the workplace. For VET courses those standards are standards developed and endorsed by industry and reflected in specific learning outcomes sought from students in national Training Packages and accredited courses. The trainer/assessor will provide students with written descriptions of course content, learning outcomes, performance criteria and assessment events for each unit. This will also include information on methods of assessment, due dates, and "competent" or "not yet competent" outcomes.

The training manager will establish a Training & Assessment Plan in which all Units and Elements for which Assessment will be required are listed, together with details of the methods of Assessment proposed, the training implications involved, and a timing schedule.

All Course requirements including submissions of assessment tasks for both on and off the job must be finalised and submitted to DP Training in accordance with the training/Assessment plan and timetable that you receive upon commencement. Failure to comply will mean that students will not be eligible to receive their qualification.

Off the job Assessment

Off the job assessments are tasks that accompany your workbook – Student Assessment materials. They have a cover sheet that states the unit of competency and elements of competency being assessed. Off the job assessment activities include case studies, questions and answers, research and problem solving. These assessment activities will be assessed by your trainer/assessor.

On the job Assessment

On the job assessment tasks require you to demonstrate your ability to apply your knowledge and skills related to the unit of competency you are completing in the workplace context. On the job assessments usually combine demonstrations, observations and questioning. On the job assessments are conducted by a workplace assessor/supervisor/third party, these can be conducted either on the job or in a simulated workplace environment.

Outcome of Assessments

The outcomes for all assessments are either competent or not yet competent. If you are judged as being not yet competent the assessor will provide you with feedback about what further evidence, you are required to provide. Support will be given where necessary to help you to acquire knowledge or develop skills necessary to be judged as competent.

Appeals against Assessment

Students in accredited training courses have the right to appeal against an assessment with which they disagree. Students first appeal direct to the trainer upon course completion & results notification received within seven days, outlining any evidence for reassessment. They may nominate a third person to be present to act as an advocate. The trainer notifies the Training Manager of the outcome of the appeal within 14 days of appeal notification. If the dispute is unresolved an appeal can be made directly to the General Manager on an Assessment Appeal Form obtainable from the Office, accompanied by payment of the Re-Assessment fee. The General Manager and Training Manager will view the assessment tool and the work done by the student and other students to gain a view of the fairness of the process with notification provided to the student within 28 days. Any further re-appeals will be dealt with a Compliant, Grievances and Appeals process.

Criminal Record Check

Students who participate in a course that requires a vocational placement and/or working with vulnerable people should be aware that if they possess a criminal record involving violence or abuse there may be restrictions to their practical vocational placements, workplace and career options involving contact with vulnerable people. Selected qualifications require the student to undergo a criminal history record check prior to commencement of their work experience/placement. DP Training can provide all relevant application documentation in order to submit a police clearance form; the fee is to be met by student.

If a positive result is returned on the police report, DP Training cannot guarantee the student a vocational placement within the industry, if the student cannot obtain their own vocational placement opportunity within the course completion timeframe they will be withdrawn from the course.

Vocational Placement Requirements

Vocational placement is structured workplace learning, a training plan is developed to support your requirements of tasks to complete during your placement hours. Vocational Placement is an important part of the program that has been designed for students to apply the theoretical knowledge gained in the classroom to a practical level in a workplace environment. This practical approach to learning will prepare students to ease into 120 hours of on the job training required to gain the qualification.

DP Training will assist you to find a suitable vocational placement host. We DO have existing relationships with some facilities/organisations within the areas that we facilitate our courses and these facilities will be contacted for a commencement timeframe upon the successfully completion of ALL of the required theory assessments for the course.

You will complete your placement within an Aged Care facility, Disability or Health Service organisation. DP Training will endeavour to provide placement as close as possible to where you live, however this will not always be possible and there is an expectation that you will have to travel to complete your arranged placement.

DP Training will arrange your vocational placement – if for any reason you do not attend the arranged placement, or you do not complete the required vocational placement hours within the timeframe allocated, DP Training reserves the right to withdraw you from the course and will only issue a statement of Attainment for the units completed as competent. If you decline the arranged vocational placement offered – you will be required to source your own placement and complete within the completion timeframe of your course.

With a selected number of our Host placement providers we will arrange placement to commence the week after class or all your theory submissions have been completed. With other facilities placement may not start immediately upon completion of your course. This will be determined by each facility and their availability; commencement dates will be provided to DP Training and we will send you notification and confirmation of commencement date.

You will be provided with a training plan/student diary to complete while on your placement, this is your part of your final assessment task and supports the demonstration of the skills you have acquired throughout the program. Please ensure that you can complete as many tasks as possible and record your progress, it is important that you diarise all attended hours and have the hours confirmed by the facility supervisor.

Please note if you personally select a facility to attend as a preference, there is a possibility of additional fees charged by that facility to host the placement. These fees are paid directly to the host facility. If you are not aware if any fees are charged by the facility, please contact our administration officer to discuss the details of the specific facility.

The Vocational Placement in an Aged Care facility usually begins at 6.30am – you may need to commence planning now for any arrangements you will require in order to attend the placement – either transport or child care.

Your behaviour at placement reflects on yourself as well as our organisation – please do not impact on future students' access to a particular facility. We all take pride in representing DP Training and looking at opportunities for the future ahead. Always arrive early for shift in full uniform and with your DP Training Student ID badge.

Exit points

Completion of all units of the course is the only exit point for those wishing to receive a full qualification. A Statement of Attainment is available for completed units of competence if a student leaves prior to the end of a course. There is no automatic re-entry point.

Certificates and Statements of Attainment

The purpose of Certificates and Statements of Attainment is to formally recognise the achievement of students in attaining competencies offered in nationally accredited courses in accordance with the conditions attaching to recognition.

Students who achieve the prescribed competencies will receive a Certificate. Those who fail will not receive a Certificate but may receive a Statement of Attainment for the competencies they did achieve. This Procedure covers the process from the training manager's receipt of the trainer's advice of the results of assessment at the end of the course, and the decision on any subsequent appeal, to the delivery of the appropriate qualifications. Certificates can be reissued twice only for a fee of $44, thereafter re-enrolment will be required.
